Norwich Testimony Remains Unshaken

Time is the best test of truth. Here is a Norwich story that has stood the test of time. It is a story with a point which will come straight home to many of us.

Mrs. C. Bennett, 46 Palmer St., Norwich, says: "Some years ago one of my family suffered from backache. Every cold settled on the kidneys and made the trouble worse. The kidneys were disordered, as was shown by the kidney secretions being irregular in passage. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at N. D. Sevin & Son's Drug Store, brought prompt relief,"

A LASTING EFFECT. Almost three years later Mrs. Bennett said: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured one of my family of kidney trouble some years ago and there has been no sign of it since. I willingly confirm my former endorsement of this medicine."

ization for the relief of Beigium it is announced that when the good ship Pontoporos sails for Beigium she will be in every sense of the word a Connecticut relief ship. Cities and towns in every quarter of the state have done their part, over 40 of them having contributed $100 or more apiece since the beginning of the campaign, while 26 others have each given more than $25. In all, 143 separate localities are represented on the books of State Treasurer Russ.

Instances of self-sacrifice, generosity

Instances of self-sacrifice, generosity and hard work are too numerous to mention. "A Working Woman of Hartford," who gave of her little that some Belgian woman might have food and clothing, and the "Mite" from "One of the Poorest Churches in the State" are only two cases out of many. The school children of Southington filustrated through their $20.88 in pennies what small gifts, backed by earnest effort, can do in the aggregate. And so with the sixth grade of the Deep River grammar school, the school chil River grammar school, the school chil dren of Derby, and many others. Se-lectman Miller of Avon was an especially conspicuous although modest figure when he made his house-to-house canvass in the midst of last week's blizzard, and workers in other towns were equally efficient.

The largest gain was $1,030 by New London: then came Waterbury, Hartford, New Haven and Bridgeport, each with more than $500, while Manchester, Wallingford, Derby, Stamford, Norfolk, East Hartford and Madison added from $400 to $100 aprices.

$400 to $100 apiece. Hartford and New Haven still lead the state in totals. An exciting con-test for third position is taking place between Bridgeport and Manchester, which are now only a few dollars apart. Both are near the $2,000 mark and hope to reach it before the new year. New London is fifth, followed by Stamford, Middletown and Fairfield, all of which have passed $1,000 and are yery closely grouped. Norwich stands very closely grouped. CHRISTMAS AND THE WAR. Helpful Message by Rev. R. R. Graham at Christ Church.

At Christ Episcopal church the rector, Rev. Richard R. Graham, preached his Christmas sermon from the text of Hebrews, 12: 27, 28 and 29.

"And this word, yet once more, signifieth the removing of those things that are shaken, as of things which have been made, that those things which are not shaken may remain. Wherefore receiving a kingdom that Wherefore receiving a kingdom that cannot be shaken, let us have grace, whereby we may offer services well-pleasing to God with reverence and awe: for our God is a consuming

More Faith, Deeper Confidence, Needed When any great shaking takes place there is always the danger of confusing the permanent with the tran-scient. When everything around us is tottering because we ourselves are shaken we cannot always distinguish between the stable and the unstable. Then it is that we need more faith, that is a deeper confidence in the great truths of God and in the fundamentals of our religious belief.

And with the world at war, or in the character of the shadow of war, the character of the Christmas message cannot be alto-gether the same as it was in those founded on what seemed to be the sure promise of God we are forced to examine that promise more carefully so that we may see its meaning more fully.

And thus it is with the Christmas message. We need to grasp, to hold fast to its essential meaning undisturbed by any failure we may seem to see in what we had thought was its significance.

ts significance.

The war has certainly awakened to o a new conviction of the difficulty f not the impossibility of obedience to the commands of Christ, those commands which if obeyed would bring about the condition of perfect and permanent peace of which we dream, in which war would be an imossibility Does God Care?

Nineteen centuries of experienc-have, however, accustomed us to the contrast between things as they are and the expectations suggested by the promises of the gospel, and however terrible may be this war it does not differ so essentially from other war-that have been waged; all were equaly in contradiction to the song of eace on earth, even though we may these wars as righteous wars. But the magnitude of this war so far ex-ceeds all others that it not alone ap pals us by its immensity, but forces us to see things in a different aspect. Just as the newly perceived immensity of time and space forced men to a new conception of God, so the immensity of this war has led us to think in larger terms and this see to think in larger terms, and this en-largement has caused a shaking of our faith. Some millions of men will be sacrificed before peace is declared and many more millions will be dis-abled, or crushed with sorrow. Does God care? After all what are a few million lives conversed to the court. million lives compared to the count-less millions that have lived and fied during the unnumbered centuries in during the unnumbered centuries in which man has lived upon this earth? If on an average these men who have fallen died some 30 years before their time, what are 30 years in the mind of Him whose days are from everlasting to everlasting?

Such questions will arise in our minds; they will suggest the idea that God does not care; that He is indifferent to the trivial affairs of this God does not care; that He is in-different to the trivial affairs of this little world.

And this is not only the supreme, but the characteristic temptation of our age, and therefore the one before

But an angry God is obviously a God who cares, or else He would not and seemed to us the plans and pur if there be indeed a God He is such as to have no plans or purposes for the world because He does not care at all for the things which seem so im ortant to us.

If then, this be the supreme tempta-
